Interior

Bright and homely converted warehouse apartment with open plan living spaces. The living room area features floor to ceiling book shelf and colourful accents throughout the space. There are large indoor plants that help define each separate area. The home features three separate bedrooms, one being a small and quaint child's room. Another features two internal windows overlooking the living space. The kitchen has white units and is tucked away by the dining room.

Exterior

The apartment features a parking space and a private garden with a large dark decking area.
