Interior

The bed has come from South Africa. We have tried to keep the place as natural as possible. The master bedroom is vast, with a large antique carved four poster bed and floor to ceiling windows looking out over the stunning countryside. The second bedroom has two single beds. Both bedrooms have exposed stone walls and beams, and the gite has reclaimed oak flooring throughout.

The living area of the Mutley Gite is open plan with a feel of old and new throughout. Once again the floor to ceiling windows allow the daylight to flood in giving it a light and airy feel, with stunning views of the rolling countryside. The kitchen and bathroom are similar in style to the other two gites - clean lines and a modern touch. The retro kitchen is super shiny and the bathroom features a giant shower head. There is a wood burning stove for use during the winter.

French doors lead onto its private, raised wooden terrace, with tables, chairs and a barbeque. Steps lead from the terrace to the pool where there is also a separate shady area under the trees with hammocks and swinging chairs for total tranquility.

Exterior

The Mutley gite over looks the unspoilt country-side. The gite has a very relaxing and calm feel to it.
