Features:

Interior

The house is a blend of modern and traditional styles, having been meticulously renovated while retaining its original charm with an oak structure and stone floors. The large interior windows fill the house with light and offer stunning views of the surrounding countryside. The spacious living areas have a mix of contemporary and rustic decor, with a variety of eclectic furniture, art and ceramics, making them ideal for photo and film.

Exterior

It offers a variety of indoor and outdoor spaces that can be easily adapted for different scenes and shoots. The farm, though no longer in active agricultural use, is set in four acres, offering diverse backdrops including open fields, a beautifully landscaped garden, and wooded areas. The property has several outbuildings including a modern gym with large floor to ceiling doors looking out onto the garden; a converted shepherds hut with herringbone flooring and an oak built veranda along one side of the house providing an indoor-outdoor setting.
