Exterior

listed manor house is an unusual and large house. Almost 800 feet above sea level, it occupies a stunning position on the edge of the Moor and overlooks gardens, woodlands, to the valley and to the hills beyond. Approached from the south east, along a long private drive, the manor is a sight to behold with its unusual, castellated, roofline. However, your eyes are immediately drawn on arrival to the spectacular view to the right.

This L shaped, house probably dates from the 17th Century but may have some remnants of an earlier hunting lodge.

Victorian additions, along with the castellation, almost doubled the size of the original house. It has three storeys and a single storey extension that blends perfectly with the rest of the house which has a very warm and welcoming atmosphere. This is a house with really good sized rooms and we love it's interesting interior; the up and down in levels adds to its charm. All the accommodation, interior decoration and finishes are to a very high standard. The property has been decorated with a mixture of modern and traditional style which perfectly achieves a relaxing and calm ambience. Set in to the hillsides with large terrace lawns.
