Interior

Film friendly datacenter comprising meeting room/event space and 2 individual datacenters.

Datacenter A comprises several racks of conventional air cooled Intel based servers. The racks are managed from consoles within the configuration and is quite a noisy environment relatively unsuitable for scenes with dialogue.

Datacenter B is smaller but is cooled using water cooling equipment. Water cooling is much quieter to run as it doesn't require the large noisy fans to blast air through the racks, and may be more suitable to filming with dialogue.
