

SE1078 Former Town Hall for Filming

A significant building in the town since the 16th century, this elegant Georgian mansion has many filming opportunities

SE1078

Former Town Hall for Filming

A significant building in the town since the 16th century, this elegant Georgian mansion has many filming opportunities

Location: Kent, United Kingdom

Within the M25: No

Categories: Libraries & Town Halls

Features:

Facilities

- Domestic Power
- Internet Access
- Mains Water
- Toilets

Floors

- Real Wood Floor

Interior Features

- Furnished
- Period Fireplace

Parking

- Off Street Parking

Rooms

- Ballroom
- Bar
- Dance floor
- Green Room
- Meeting/Board Room

Walls & Windows

- Large Windows
- Painted Walls
- Paneled Walls

Interior

A significant building in the town since the 16th century, the property is an elegant Georgian mansion set in the heart of the town's historic Heritage Quarter.

This building has an intriguing past. Its many uses include police station, fire engine storehouse, council committee rooms and offices, magistrates' court and museum. After more than 150 years serving the local community in a variety of civic roles, the building finally fell into disrepair in the 20th Century after the opening of town's new Magistrates Court and Civic Centre.

Following a three year programme of restoration, the property proudly opened its doors to the public again in 2010. The mansion now provides a unique and historical setting for filming, weddings and corporate events alike.

There are several stunning rooms available for your use, events for up to 200 guests can be comfortably and elegantly accommodated.

* The Grand Hall can seat a up to 175 people theatre style or 120 banqueting.

* The Old Court Room can seat up to 45 theatre style or 30 board room style or for banqueting.

* The Parlour Room can seat up to 10 for private meetings or dining.

* The Mayors Lobby provides an informal space for small meetings of up to 5 people.

With plentiful parking and just a short walk to rail connections that get you to the City (17 minutes), the venue is easily accessible from London and the M25

