Features:

Interior

The downstairs loo is fitted with a 19th century lambeth cistern and trap doors in the floorboards speak to the treasures found beneath them during the build. The house is four storeys and boasts a modern kitchen and art studio to the rear. The garden has been planted with the heirloom plants Vincent would have seen. The house would suit a period drama, music videos or creative short films that would appreciate the pared back minimal design with all its atmosphere and history.

Exterior

Grade II listed Georgian terrace house.
