Features:

Interior

Georgian period property dating from 1820. The house has full-height 11.5 foot ceilings throughout the ground floor and formal rooms, dining room, drawing room, reception hall, study, and kitchens. As well as traditional 24-pane large sash windows, allowing substantial light inside. Picture and dado rails line many of the rooms and ceiling rose mouldings set off the period chandeliers. The master bedroom is one of several furnished upstairs rooms that could easily accommodate a 4-poster bed as well as a 3 piece suite.

Exterior

Standing within it's private estate, the main house is set within private and peaceful formal gardens, with original high stone walls and lawned areas to the front and side. The principal elevation faces South and enjoys all-day sunshine and views over the tiered gardens and fields. The property overlooks the private land and open countryside to the South and benefits from an elevated position. The private estate also includes approximately 3.5 acres of mature managed forest. The approach to the property is set off beautifully by a 700m private driveway, lined with mature trees.
