Interior

Versatile shabby chic London location house available for film shoots, advertising shoots, virals, interviews, commercial shoots, still life shoots and editorial shoots.

The property is particularly suited to family/kitchen based filming and photography due to its large, modern, light and airy aspirational kitchen which opens onto a patio and lawn.

Inside, the house has plenty of props including a vintage circus arrow, authentic Yak's skull, antique rocking horse, a shark beanbag chair and original 1930s dressing table. The property also benefits from high ceilings and is wide enough to put up a backdrop if required, and the airy industrial-chic kitchen is ideal for both editorial and commercial shoots and filming. Paint and decorating is allowed.

Living room with blue painted walls, light real wood floor, blue chesterfield sofa, blue chair, pink sofa and period fire place

Hallway with original minton tiled floor, blue grey painted walls and period staircase

Large kitchen with grey gloss cabinets, light grey worktop, island with gas hob, large kitchen white wood table with pink, white and perspex chairs, light real wood floorboards and purple sofa.

Childs bedroom with grey painted walls, light grey bunk beds, light floor boards and bright striped rug.

two double bedrooms with grey painted walls, double beds and period fireplaces

Exterior

An Edwardian terraced house with bay window. The exterior is rendered, painted a contemporary shade of grey with a bright red Edwardian front door with stained glass. The kitchen diner opens onto a large grass garden with apple tree, blue shed and patio.
