Features:

Interior

The principal reception rooms have been laid out specifically with spacious and comfortable family living in mind and are the focal point of the house, with large sash windows capturing the spectacular views over the manicured gardens and towards the Mountains.

Exterior

The estate extends to about 93.5 acres in total. The estate has a very private situation, centred upon a charming period country house which occupies an elevated position above the picturesque and historic village. The house is surrounded by delightful gardens and has magnificent, panoramic views of the dramatic and varied countryside. The gates open to an attractive avenue, lined with beech trees and original stone walls, which leads to a parking area to the front of the house.
