Interior

The property is in two parts. There is a disused watermill with all the parts including the millstones, however not in working order at the moment. The old cart and granary stores have been converted into a three bedroom holiday cottage. There is a bathroom and an open plan living and kitchen space with a modern green kitchen.

Exterior

The cottage and mill are built from local carastone and features a pantiled roof. Water still flows through the building and is controlled by a sluice gate. There is a large mill pond as well as well as a woodland garden with a lawn space.
