Exterior

Very quiet, traditional leafy West London residential street with terrace of attractive 2-storey Edwardian houses converted into flats. Picturesque, slightly arty atmosphere and many of the houses have pots of flowers and shrubs in their areas and on their steps . The flat does not have its own garden but there is a paved area at the front of the house and 5 steps going up to the front door. This flat is up one flight of stairs and access to it is easy. There is plenty of metered parking in adjoining Fernhead Road and a range of shops two streets
